Ignorance, Problems, Frustration and Gewalt

Most humans are devoid of all knowledge regarding the meaning of life and, moreover, are overloaded with their daily problems and worries; however, they are also extremely badly educated for life and all of its ups and downs. They are uneducated in regard to the true, right and valuable forms of lifestyle and also with regard to dying and death, by which every human is inevitably overtaken at any hour of any day. The poor education regarding this, which would have to take place already from childhood onwards, leads to the humans breaking down, being at wit's end and not being able to solve and overcome their problems in a useful period or at all. These are, however, not the only worries and problems, etc., with which the uneducated or even only badly educated humans keep struggling, burden themselves and turn life into a farce and hell as well as into one of frustration themselves.

Problems, trouble and worries of all kinds pass through the entire life of most humans, also regarding relationships outside marriage and with regard to marriage. Too many believe that a relationship outside marriage, when two humans get together in marriage-like form without an official marriage ceremony, or the marriage itself is a true sex adventure and that that's the most important relationship link between two humans, which, however, is not truly so because a relationship outside marriage or a marriage does not consist only of the fulfilment of sexual desires. A relationship outside marriage or marriage between two humans, regardless of whether same-sex or male and female, signifies that a solid connection has been formed, one that must be based on a rigid basis of trust and on a thinking-feeling solidarity as well as on a profound sense of common bond, on honesty, virtues and love as well as on the value "till death separates you". Valuable interpersonal content must be given, as much as a stable existence, to respect each other and to always be present for each other and helpful to each other in every situation till the end of life.

A relationship outside marriage or a marriage signifies a union on a voluntary basis without any force playing even only the smallest role. Also, valuable material objects, education, title, and other material things of every kind must play no role but rather solely and alone, true love and all the values resulting from it. But it is exactly true love and all the values that emerge from it that nowadays are no longer in demand and have no more validity. Today, only material values, money, title, occupation, education, and luxury are valid, for which the male or female partner can answer, which is why the establishment of a relationship outside marriage or the entering into an official marriage says: "... till money or other values divorce you." However, this means that every relationship outside of marriage or every marriage is already from any beginning just as doomed to failure as every true wish for a family and children.

It will never work in a relationship outside marriage or in a marriage that one partner oppresses or maltreats the other. Neither in a same-sex nor in a different-sex relationship or marriage is the male or female partner the property of the other partner, but rather every partner has the right to complete freedom in every respect if this largely agrees with the right of partnership and the law. Therefore, a relationship outside marriage or an official marriage is also not an imprisonment because such a thing is compatible neither with love, joy, and peace nor with freedom and happiness, therefore with the high values, which must be given unconditionally in a relationship or marriage. If these values are disregarded in a relationship outside marriage or in a marriage, then it is not possible for the existence of the relationship or marriage to be saved, certainly not with Gewalt and terror, not with jealousy, not with a stick and carrot as well as not through fighting, ill-treatments, stubborn silence or through screaming, outbursts of rage, through threats or hate, etc. Actually, every relationship outside marriage as well as every marriage can come about as well as stay alive for the duration of life only through the adherence to virtues, humaneness, real love and all values resulting from that. To these high values also belong tolerance and honest understanding as well as the will to not dispute with the male or female partner the meaning of life, the evolution of the consciousness, and to help everything so that the joy of life steadily grows and remains preserved on both sides.

Unfortunately, it is such, the longer the more, that the high values for a marriage or a relationship outside marriage as well as for a friendship and true interpersonal relationships are only hollow words that fade and disappear somewhere in the endlessness. This leads in fact to discord, jealousy, conflict, and hate belong to the order of the day as much as rape and fighting in very many partnerships of unmarried or married people. And it is wrong to assume here that only the male maltreats the female partner, because also the reverse is the order of the day - also in the case of same-sex partnerships - only simply less is spoken of it because the men are too ashamed to admit that they are beaten, raped and maltreated thoroughly and treated and handled like servants, slaves and like they are lower than dogs by their female partners. This is an unquestionable fact, but it must be said that regarding this, sooner the women are the greater sufferers because actually it is true that very many men execute evil Gewalt on their female partners or wives. And in such cases without exception, sufferers are also children - even if women beat up their men - at least in the way that they experience the whole marriage-related terror and thereby suffer psychic damage, which very often leads to behavioral disturbances and to asocial excesses. Not seldom the children are even included in the fighting, whereby they also suffer physically and must endure great pain. Marriage circumstances of this kind more and more often degenerate in such a way that family dramas develop through mothers or fathers murdering parts of the family or even destroying the whole family. The question about this is why such unbelievable things happen, how can it come to this, that humans degenerate in this way, the longer the more: Fundamentally, it is the wrong upbringing as a result of no comprehensive education for life and life's conduct taking place. In this way, already from the earliest age onwards, the children are neglected, badly brought up, left alone to themselves, and not informed and not taught in all those things that life will demand of them. No proprieties of life whatsoever are explained to them, no education in the conduct of life takes place, the fundamental important matters of birth, life, dying, death, and mourning are not taught out of fear and irrationality, and also no education takes place in regard to the sexuality of interpersonal relationships and relationships outside marriage. Also, no education takes place regarding the marriage ceremony and marriage conduct as well as to all important matters regarding family conduct, and not enough is done in the dealing with children. Also, any facts of the social sphere as well as of the social norms and of the social rights and social life are ignored, as is the meaning of life, which consists in the conscious evolution of the consciousness; with that the human progresses evolutively, changes himself for the better and creates love, freedom, peace, and harmony within himself as well as outwardly.

If the children lack the necessary and good upbringing through the parents, then no self-discipline with the children can even occur. This means that they go out into the world with poor qualifications and are not able to cope with the turmoil of the environment and of existence. Already in adolescence - if not years earlier - they are directionless in such a way that they find no way in life, flip out and follow paths that all lead to bad company and to antisocial elements as well as to aggression, non-virtues, indignity, dishonesty and to the complete disregard of the neighbor's right to psychic and physical integrity. However, due to ignorance, wrong upbringing and the problems and frustration resulting from that, all rights of the neighbors are ignored and treated with contempt; these are despotically considered as personal property, as slaves who can be raped, beaten, and tormented even at whim. Therefore, as a rule, the misery, which was already conditioned in the children by the parents through the wrong upbringing, takes its course unstopably in the life of adolescents and adults. And the way their parents were subjected to the same wrong upbringing and passed this on with all the evil consequences to their children, it is the same with the children when they are growing or have become adults. If the children grow up or they become adults, then they make poor contacts without good interpersonal relationships to other humans, relationships outside marriage or in an official marriage, and these are just completely doomed to failure because they lack the necessary forms that make possible a coexistence in true love and freedom as well as in peace, happiness, and harmony. Gewalt in the relationship and Gewalt in the marriage and against the children become a daily routine - yet the governments and authorities, the police, and neighbors, etc., do not do anything about it but only when it is too late. Only when the children have already been beaten to death, a partner has been murdered or the entire family has been destroyed, do the authorities step in and the neighbors, etc., report something, finally showing their blindness regarding the beatings or murders by their declaring to have known nothing about any of that.

The reasons for relationship, marriage and family dramas can be very diverse and additionally find their forms beyond wrong upbringing and ignorance, such as in a rumor that a jealous female neighbor or a spiteful or envious male neighbor spreads in order to vent her or his frustration on the male neighbor, on the female neighbor or on the neighbor's whole family. Also, a male or female colleague, whose relationship or marriage does not function and is therefore dissatisfying and creates problems, can be a trigger for a relationship, marriage, or family catastrophe. It may also be that a partner suffers from workplace bullying, must accept injustices in the workplace or is slandered, comes into conflict with the law, is unemployed or is not able to cope with the job and the job's staff, whereby frustration then arises, which is vented on the other partner, on the children or on the whole family. Actually, there is an enormous number of reasons why Gewalt appears in a relationship, in a marriage or in a family, but problems are never solved through this. But the fact is that when problems arise in interpersonal relations and in a relationship outside marriage or in a marriage and family, that fundamentally for all Gewalt and problems, the wrong upbringing of the children and their being not educated on the part of the parents or other guardians are to be blamed. If the children cannot learn the necessary rules of life in every respect from the parents, then they, in adolescence and in adulthood, do not or only extremely seldom find the way to self-discipline, in order to bring oneself up to be a true, virtuous and upright human who also fits in with the healthy norms of the social system and helps to support this according to his best knowledge and conscience.

Truly, in the current time, in which the great mass of humans, young or old, only carries on an uninhibited chase for the filthy mammon, for addiction, vice, pleasure, power, prestige and luxury, it is very difficult to give one's hand to what is good and valuable. Therefore, it is also immensely difficult for most humans to find and apply all the values that are of necessity as much for a good interpersonal relationship as for a valuable and long-lasting relationship outside marriage or an official marriage and an eventual family and children. As long as the power of mammon and all materialistic things rule the world and the humans, it is hardly possible to change something for the better, because for the greedy behemoths, only the usefulness and amenities of mammon and materialism matter, but not life, a good marriage or interpersonal relationship or relationship outside marriage.

Many humans live today on the edge of their existence, have no goal in mind, live in want, are unemployed and on the verge of despair. Nonetheless, the ones who govern do not endeavor to put a stop to this evil - while the other humans who are well-off or reasonably well-off shut their eyes and ears to it according to the motto: "Why should I be my neighbor's keeper?" or: "Why should I care about the fate of my neighbor?" Therefore, nobody is concerned about the misery, worries and problems as well as the frustration of the fellow humans - these should help themselves nevertheless according to the motto: "Do or Die." However, very many cannot help themselves because they were not already taught and informed from childhood onwards how they are able to help themselves. Therefore, they inevitably sink into situations from which they are not able to free themselves anymore, but how would they even, if they are lacking the necessary education for that! Therefore, they fall more and more deeper into their worries and problems, and then they suddenly go berserk. This is then the moment where the ones who govern and those who are still fortunate to be well-off or reasonably well-off take note of the needy. But if these do not go berserk and vegetate simply silently in their distress or in their misery, then they go unnoticed by those who govern as well as by those who are still well-off or reasonably well-off.

The humans of today are already degenerated in such a way that they are no longer capable of making life-promoting culture, of opening an eye and the ear for the needy neighbors, let alone capable of entering a marriage or a relationship outside marriage that is stable for life. This is completely apart from the fact that even the true virtues are only just recorded on paper and, like true and honest interpersonal relationships, are not fostered anymore by humans. And together with the ones who govern are also the religions and sects, which are incapable of teaching the Laws and Recommendations of the Creation and teaching the humans that education in every respect must be provided and the true rules, laws and recommendations of life must be learned and followed. And since this instruction is as lacking as all necessary education and the compliance with the Creational-Natural Laws, the humans in this manner are also no longer capable of creating new forms and rules of life that are in service of all of humanity and would remove all existing evil in the course of time. Already are the humans no longer capable of seeking for the true path of life and the comprehensive consciousness-expanding evolution, whereby they inevitably lose not only their nerves but also their joy, their freedom and harmony as well as their peace and their happiness.
